Stained Glass

Art Glass

Hand made art glass, often called “paddle glass” is poured in sheet form by experts who then creatively mix in various colors with a paddle to create a glass masterpiece. True art glass panels are irregular in their color pattern, each with its own character and beauty.

We have introduced three new glass colors: Carmel, Bronze Green and Autumn Green. These new colors are used in our new “Stained Glass Shades” shown on page 87 and are available as panels for use in frames, lanterns or the body of a chandelier. We use the finest art glass suppliers in America and allow each glass panel to complement our metal finishes and give each lantern its own unique identity.

Mica

Natural mica flakes are layered with a binder of shellac to create the mica panels used in our fixtures. Offered in two colors, mica panels should be used indoors or in an outdoor area protected from the direct weather.
